The Dangers of Underage Drinking Town Meeting

On April 19, community leaders gathered to discuss the dangers posed to youth who drink alcohol before age 21 and ways the community can help reduce this risky and illegal behavior. The meeting was hosted by Mayor Tom Dolan and speakers included Art Brown, President of Mothers Against Drunk Driving, Benjamin Reaves, of the Utah Division of Substance Abuse, and Steve Chapman, Sandy City Police Chief. Alcohol consumption is particularly dangerous to young people. It stunts their brain development and makes them five times more likely to develop alcohol dependence than those who begin drinking after age 21. It is also a factor in the four leading causes of death among teenagers, and is more likely to kill young people than all illegal drugs combined.
